By using this website, you give your consent that all personal data that you submit to us may be processed by us in the manner and for the purposes described below.

If you do not agree to these terms and conditions, please do not use the site.

Cross Timbers CPAs PLLC (the "Firm" or "us" or "we") recognizes that your privacy is important. This Policy discloses the privacy practices for the Firm's website (the "Site"), as well as any services provided through the Site. This Policy also covers how personal and other information that we receive or collect about you from the Site is treated.

The Firm generally collects only information that is provided to us voluntarily by users of the Site so that we may provide users information about the Firm.

Types of Information We Collect

We collect two types of information about users of the Site: Aggregate Information and, in some cases, Personally Identifiable Information ("PII").

Aggregate Information: This information does not by itself identify a specific individual. We gather certain information about you based upon where you visit on our Site and what other sites may have directed you to us. This information, which is collected in a variety of different ways, is compiled and analyzed on both a personal and an aggregated basis. This information may include the website's Uniform Resource Locator ("URL") that points to the site you just came from, which URL you go to after visiting our Site, what browser you are using, and your Internet Protocol ("IP") address.

Personally Identifiable Information: This information lets us know some specifics about who you are. When you engage in certain activities on this Site, such as subscribing to certain content publications or sending us questions, we may ask you to provide certain information about yourself. Examples of PII may include your first and last name, telephone numbers, email address, mailing address (including zip code), your industry or service, and other identifying information. Please do not send us any sensitive personal information such as social security numbers, health information, or criminal background on or through our Site.

How We Collect and Use Information

We, or our third-party marketing partners, may collect certain Aggregate Information from this Site. For example, our third-party marketing partners may provide us with aggregate, but not individual, reports with information about the results of our digital marketing efforts. In addition, we may use your IP address to diagnose problems with our servers and software, to administer our Site and to gather demographic information about users of our Site.

We do not collect any PII about you unless you voluntarily provide it to us. You may be required to provide certain PII to us when you elect to use certain services available on the Site. These may include: (a) subscribing to our newsletters or publications; (b) registration for an in-person seminar or online webinar; (c) requesting information about matters such as professional services, career opportunities, or our Site; (d) sending us an email message; or (e) submitting a form or transmitting other information by telephone or letter.

We will primarily use your PII to provide service offerings to you. We will also use certain forms of PII to enhance the operation of our Site, improve our internal marketing and promotional efforts, analyze Site use, improve our service offerings, and customize our Site's content, layout, and services. We may use PII to deliver information to you and to contact you regarding administrative notices. Finally, we may use your PII to resolve disputes, troubleshoot problems and enforce our agreements with you, including this Privacy Policy.
